through a nearby trailer park where officers lost him since they did not want to take a chance on firing their guns.

Responding to the call were Sgt. T. A. Morris and officers, R. Daly, J. E. Davis, and W. Nitz.

Police theorize that the thief stole a nearby pick-up truck to make his get-away, since the truck was reported missing shortly after.

While fleeing from police, the suspect threw a .32 calibre automatic under one of the trailers. This gun and his car were impounded, according to Sgt. Bennett.

Victim of a repeat-robbery in Lomita, was Charles A. Webster, 45, attendant at the Service-Ur-Self, Advance Service station, 2413 Pacific Coast highway.

Webster was held up during the early morning hours Sunday and again Monday. The thief got away with a total of $146 in coin and currency.

Both Webster and Archie O. Andrew, 64, of the Torrance station, identified Corder as the suspect from police photographs.

When Webster gave the bandit his own personal money as was wrong but that he was "in stick-up. "I like to hit each well, he said: a bind." place twice in a row." "There's the phone, go ahead Corder was described as having "I'll not take your money because you look like a hard-working man." and call," he said as he left. having brown, wavy hair, receding hairline, high cheek bones, very smooth shaven, and brown eyes. "I'm going to make all the collections I can until I get caught," he said during the
